It is time for the Government to retrieve the evil before its impartiality is discredited in the Provinces where this mismanagement has already produced an exceedingly bad impression that may lead to more disastrous complications if not remedied betimes.

NEUTRAL.

30th of June 1864.

Important to Sheep Farmers.

Gentlemen:—

If you think my remarks worth the ink, please to insert them in your paper. The Exmoor are hardy sheep, and endure rainy weather. The cross breed sheep, Merino and Byeland, (Hereford) produce a very valuable fleece, indeed, this wool advanced from 2s to 3s per lb., and the fleece increased in weight from 2 to 3-lb; moreover, if the fleece be unclipped for two years it will weigh from 14 to 21-lb., with a pile of over eight inches, and still preserve its quality, forming a wool well adapted for shawl purposes, and the health of the sheep is not injured by this climate in Europe, but these sheep should not be washed and are usually sweated in close pens the night before shearing. Should the Merinos prove bad milkers, I should try a cross with the Hamborough shire. The Leonese Merinos now are considered the most valuable, but perhaps the Chunah, which are longer wooled, might suit this climate better. The great priced Saxon sheep are usually purchased at the May fair of Grestrow in Mecklenburg. Of this country I cannot speak, but in other regions it is necessary to keep the sheep away from the grass till the dew is off, and from water after hail storms.

Thyme, sheep's parsley, endive, and all salads or bitter plants, such as saltwort, glass-wort, wormwood, etc., are good for sheep, but nothing adds so much to the goats as rape seed, in the form of rape cake, and seeing that a bushel of seed will sow ten acres, and that plants of the same tribe are noxious weeds in the ploughed ground which I do not see why we should not sow it, for it would smother the thistles and the clover would be all the better for the shade. And, speaking of shade, why do we not sow broom in the camp? It would do for firewood, shelter the unfortunate muttons from wind and sun, and protect the herbage in dry seasons; furthermore, the more the sheep bit it, the more branches it would put forth. Is 6d a pound is not a fence right price for broom seed, and if sown when the ground is moist, the sheep would tread it in, besides all that, it is good for their health like goats; but you need not thank me for the information, for my mother taught me so; and if you want good wool your sheep should be kept in moderately good condition the year round and never be allowed to get very fat.

In Africa and Asia they always have two or three goats to lead the sheep over water, and especially to prevent them from running before the wind, without knowing whither. A Germany thousands of acres of light dry soil, that lay too far from the rivers to be valuable as woodlands, have been made into winter pastures for sheep by sowing them with the YELLOW LUPIN. Of course nothing will eat it when green, but when it is withered the sandy people eat seeds, stalks, and all clean up, and as the other lupins are grown here in gardens, I see no reason (with the seeds at 10s per bushel) why it should not be simply sown and harrowed in, here in the camps, to provide food for them in winter, and even if they trod it down in summer, it is no matter: the broken part heals and grows again, besides sheltering the clover from the sun's perpendicular rays. Now, as to the matter of sheltering the sheep from wind and sun, we have plenty of wet lands near the city, which, by cutting a few open drains would be able to produce abundance of willows by planting in rows four feet apart, and the sets at twenty inches, in three years you could cut them and make bundles of them, like the lid of a hamper, next the wool grower could buy the bundles and plaiting two rows of them one foot apart high and a yard apart, fill the intervening space with earth and sow gorse on the top. At the time the hurdles are ripe to pierce the earth would be copolid ated and the roots would bind it together, and your sheep would know whither to come for shelter from the wind, and in addition to that, you could mail hurdles on posts, like a roof, here and there to screen the sheep in hot or rainy weather, at little expense. As to forage, I think we are steering in a wrong direction, for though alfalfa is very good green, it makes very bad hay, whereas stin foin will endure the bite of sheep, produces hay which even grazed down well and grows on a drier soil than lucerne, and will last quite as many years in the soil. Those who have enclosed lands can of course do many things which are otherwise impracticable. Where it is desirable to manure the land three bushels of rare mixed with half a bushel of rye, or rape and rye-grass, will produce a large quantity of green food, on which the sheep can be turned and so enrich the soil for the next crop. I fancy, too, that we can grow both rape and mustard seed for export, and they are worth 30 to 40 per acre, but we are, as it less busy for some of my experimental farm, on which to try such crops and animals as might be beneficial to the country and add to the comfort and well-being of all, for poor men have not the means to do these things till they have been proved, and rich men will not devote their time necessary for accomplishing such matters; nevertheless, something might be done, and, though a man may say that he is a tenant without a lease or other security, still I never heard of a tenant-at-will being discharged because he was improving the estate, or that a Spaniard did not know how to be a gentleman.

As to planting and other matters, I may have more to say on a future occasion, but space and opportunity are precious things.

Meanwhile, I have the honor to be, My dear Sir,

Your obedient servant,

ARISTOTOS.

OUTRAGEOUS ROBBERY

$42,000 Stolen by a Young Girl in the Plaza Once de Septiembre.

An unfortunate Basque, who had little too much spare cash, was victimised to the extent of 42,000 dols., by a native servant girl. The girl seemed to be afflicted with a sort of monomana for trinkets, jewellery, and fine dresses, for the very day following the robbery she invested some 10,000 dols. in silk dresses, and a jewelled repeater; she then hired a coach, and drove about the Plaza in surpassing style. The neighbours took her to be some grand lady, not recognising the servant girl, not recognising the apparel: suddenly, however, some spiteful old woman gave the police the hint; the dashing girl was arrested and closed upon by the police, and taken to the Policia. Since that building was converted into the depot of crime, there never entered the portals such a dashing girl; her silk train, her bewitching car-rings, her sparkling jewels, shone with redoubled splendor within the gloomy walls of the Policia. The policemen took off their hats as she passed into the Chief's office; and then the poor Chief, as he gazed in mute astonishment on a lovely, young, artless girl, in jewels and in tears! What were the poor man's feelings! The delicately jewel inen, which once was wont to fry beefsteaks and mutton chops; the elegant Parisian hat, the costly embroic handkerchief; and yet such crime at the hot tom of all. Well might the Chief exclaim—

"O! woman, woman, thy very name is guilty!"

The case was truly affecting. The Chief asked the lovely but guilty creature before him many and varied questions, which we refrain from publishing. She wept, and, if we are to believe report, flung herself upon the generosity of the melting heart of his Worship. But it was all in vain; the stern hearted judge tore himself from so afflicting a sight. The frail, supplicating, female form had recourse to hysterics, and his Worship Canon ordered the young lady, dressed in Precos Ball costume, to be led into cap tivity. Meanwhile, a palpitating, corpulent Basque appeared to prefer the charge of robbery against the young lady, who was then and there searched, and some 30,000 dols. got on her person.

LATEST FROM MONTEVIDEO

We have seen two private letters dated June 20th, (Thursday), from which we extract:—"The news are confirmed that peace has been effected; at all events Mr. Thornton has sold it, and the documents of the treaty have already been signed by the Government and forwarded to Flores. The matter is not yet publicly known, but will in a few days be officially announced by the wife of one of the Ministers has assured us. Dealers who are conversant in the affairs of Europe have commenced to purchase, and we expect next month to feel such an activity in the dry goods market as we have not experienced for some time past."

Sir Elizalde had left for Flores' headquarters, promising to bring the Generalissimo on Sunday, into town. A council of war has been held at Montevideo, to determine the best means for disarming the Colorado forces.

PARANA MAILS.

We have the 'Parani' and 'Litoral' to the 26th ult. General Virasoro has arrived at Paraná. Don Miguel Vidal advertises having lost a Government Security for $1440. He says, "no one will be paid but the owner"; he might have added, "and perhaps not even the latter." The Entre Rios bank is reported going ahead famously, and likely being well received. A meeting is to be held at the theatre, relative to electing members for the Convention, probably about the rank of the ex-metropolis.

CAPTAIN HUNTER.

We are glad to correct the 'Tribune's' statement, which we copied. Our countryman does not leave the Esmeralda, and the only change is the purchase of the post as now filled by Sir Allice, ex-captain of the port at Bella Vista.

PRESS PROBABILITIES

The 'Pueblo' states that the Editor of the 'Tribuna' has entered a suit against his colleague of the 'Imparcial Español.' We give Sr. Varela credit for more sense: it is most natural that every honest Spaniard should feel strongly about the massacre of his countrymen at Tarma, and M. Pinaque is certainly more interested than D. Hector Varela, in showing up the iniquities of the Peruvian Government.

CONGRESS.

BRITISH CLAIMS.

The National Deputies were occupied yesterday with the claim of the brig Sultan (?) M. Zuviria, on the part of the Committee, handed in a project authorising Government to leave the matter to debitration of a neutral power.

D. Adolfo Alsina undertook to declare the claim fraudulent, backed up by English journals always prone to victimize weak nations, &c.

M. Gugate was speaking when we went to press.

The talk on the Bolsa to-day was exclusively about the Lanus scheme for redeeming the paper money. Merchants seem to regard it with great favour, and think it preferable to Senor Riestra's. Brokers, however, laugh in their sleeve at the project, and say that the paper dollar better please all—that nothing can be done with it, and therefore the best thing to do is to leave it alone. Meanwhile there cannot be the slightest doubt that paper money will keep depreciating unless the legislature interferes.

We shall attention to a new Fire and Life Insurance office opened in this city. It is one of the largest and safest in the world. The agents of the Company are Henry A. Green & Co., 85 Reconquista.

Mr. Rom, the Secretary of the Polsa, has received some beautiful specimens of Mendoza jinned cotton. He has also some very good samples from San Juan.

The National Government has handed to the Bank four millions of paper money to be burnt for the month of July. We suppose that it will be continued immediately.

In the Plaza there is scarcely any thing doing, as there is nothing coming in. A popular English wool broker informs us that some one or two cargoes arrived yesterday in the South Pinlata, but the roads are in such a horrible condition that even the little produce that is in the country cannot get into the market.

Some National Government Bonds changed hands to-day at 45 per cent. Exchange and commodities are coming more and more into demand. We think they must go up.

Money is very easy in the market and good signatures are readily discounted at one per cent. per month at short dates.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt, and appreciated in the two principal Countries of the River Plate—Montevideo & Buenos Ayres—that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the Bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working class in that city, a safe & profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of Clerks, artisans, working-men & servants of all classes & conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city following the example of their Montevideo branch, is sufficiently known to the public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations which are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries and other frivolities.

There are at this time many thousands of Confederate prisoners of war confined in the various forts and camps of the Northern States. A large proportion of them are wounded or sick, and all are in a state of destitution, the accounts of which, as given in private letters and in the newspapers, present a picture of human suffering, which has scarcely a parallel in modern times. The merest necessaries of life are wanting, and frequently the wounded prisoner has no bandage against which is stark and stiffened with his clotted blood. Horrible as war is in all its features, assuredly it has no greater horrors than the long agony of the poor captive who, when the feverish excitement of the contest is over, is left to the bitter charity of strangers and foes, without one friendly hand to soothe the pains of body or friendly voice to whisper hope and comfort to his despairing mind. These men, cut off from the assistance of their kindred or the protection of their Government, have peculiar claims on the patriotism of their countrymen in Europe, and upon christian benevolence everywhere. They did not recklessly or from choice embrace the profession of arms, but in exchanging the comforts, and often the luxuries, of home for the toils and hardships of a soldier's life, they obeyed a stern sense of duty and the call of their country in its extremest need. An unusual proportion, also, of these that fill the ranks of the Confederate armies belong to the higher walks of life, upon whom privations, such as are endured by prisoners in the hands of the North, fall with increased severity.

The Southern Prisoners' Relief Fund is intended to mitigate some of these sufferings which cannot altogether be relieved. Within little more than a year-month, nearly £3,000 have been collected and expended in relief. The managers of the Fund are assisted in their efforts by self-devoted ladies in the principal Northern cities, who visit the sufferers and give them such aid as the means at their disposal render possible. Of late the Federal Government has (after) permission that the Samaritan work may be done equally. It is cheerfully hoped that all Southerners residing in South America will support the Fund to the extent of their ability, and its objects may recommend themselves to all, irrespective of country or political convictions, who sympathise with the sufferings of their fellow-men.

Contributions will be received by J H Ashbridge, Treasurer, Walmer Buildings, Water Street, Liverpool; or in London, by Henry Hotze, Esq., 17 Saville Row, W.; in Paris, by H O Brewer, Esq., 6 Rue Circulare; and Daniel Hubbard, Esq., 24 Rue Lord Byron. j181m.
